DEMETRIOS G. PAPADEMETRIOU

Demetrios Papademetriou is the President of the Migration Policy Institute (MPI), a Washington-based think tank dedicated exclusively to the study of international migration. MPI is the successor to the International Migration Policy Program of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Dr. Papademetriou is also the Co-Founder and Chair Emeritus of “Metropolis: An International Forum for Research and Policy on Migration and Cities.” Metropolis seeks to stimulate inter-disciplinary and cross-national policy research and thinking among teams of researchers, senior policy makers and leaders of the non-governmental sector in more than three dozen states. The Metropolis network uses that knowledge to motivate governments at all levels to design and implement better policies.

From 1991-1996, Dr. Papademetriou served as Chair of the Migration Committee of the Paris-based OECD. From 1988 to 1992, Dr. Papademetriou was Director for Immigration Policy and Research at the U.S. Department of Labor and Chair of the Secretary of Labor’s Immigration Policy Task Force. Finally, Dr. Papademetriou edited the International Migration Review, the migration field’s premier academic journal from 1980-1983.

Dr. Papademetriou has taught at the University of Maryland, Duke University, the Graduate Faculty of the New School for Social Research (Political Science), and the American University (as a scholar-in-residence). He has published well over 200 works on (a) the role of a well-managed migration system in enhancing economic competitiveness and human progress, (b) the immigration policies of the United States and other advanced industrial societies, (c) the impact of legal and illegal immigration on labor markets and communities, (d) the relationship between international migration and development, (e) the management of international borders, (f) the U.S.-Mexico and U.S.-Canada border and migration relationships, and (g) immigrant integration policies.

Dr. Papademetriou advises senior government and political party officials on migration matters in nearly twenty countries and consults with numerous foundations and research organizations globally.
